2018

Studs

Together with 32 other students, we sold evening events for companies where we would let the company have a more personal presentation of themselves. The course is named Studs, and with the money collected we used it for a study trip to USA. I got many connections through this, both with the other students but to many other companies.

2017

Udemy Swift course

I am self learned in the programming language swift, where I learned to build iOS apps. I followed the course "Learn to Code with Apple's New Language" on Udemy.
